

We Shall Overcome

We shall overcome, we shall overcome,
We shall overcome someday;
Oh, deep in my heart, I do believe,
We shall overcome someday.

The Lord will see us through, The Lord will see us through,
The Lord will see us through someday;
Oh, deep in my heart, I do believe,
We shall overcome someday.

We're on to victory, We're on to victory,
We're on to victory someday;
Oh, deep in my heart, I do believe,
We're on to victory someday.

DeWitt Army
Community
Hospital

Fort Belvoir
Community
Hospital

DeWitt Army Community Hospital

Celebrating
Black History
Month 2011

Guest Speaker

Dr. Michael K. Fauntroy

Michael K. Fauntroy is an associate professor of public policy at George Mason University, where he teaches courses in civil rights policy and American government and specializes in race and American politics.

Prior to joining the faculty at GMU, he was an analyst in American national government at the Congressional Research Service, where he provided research and consultations for members and committees of Congress. From 1993 to 1996, he was a civil rights analyst at the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, where he monitored and conducted research on major civil rights issues.

Fauntroy is the author of Republicans and the Black Vote, which was published in 2008 and was a Foreword Magazine 2007 Book of the Year Award Finalist. The book analyzes the historical relationship between African Americans and the Grand Old Party. He is also the author of Home Rule or House Rule? Congress and the Erosion of Local Governance in the District of Columbia. The book, published in 2003, details the evolution of District of Columbia governance. His next book, Mission Accomplished? Reflections on a Post-Racial America, is a collection of essays commenting on contemporary racial politics and culture and will be published next year.

Fauntroy is a regular contributor to The Huffington Post and has been published in The Washington Times, TomPaine.com, The Black Commentator, The Chicago Defender, and The Root. He has been quoted widely in print publications such as The New York Times Magazine, The Washington Post, USA Today, Newsday, Black Enterprise, The Washington Times, the New York Daily News, and the Boston Globe.

Fauntroy is a continuing media presence commenting and analyzing national issues. He has been heard or seen on national radio and television networks such as ABC (World News Tonight), CBS (Evening News and Saturday Early Show), CNN (American Morning), MSNBC (Hardball), Fox News (Hannity and Colmes), NBC (Nightly News and Today), Comcast (Your Morning), NPR (Talk of the Nation, Tell Me More, and News and Notes), PBS (The NewsHour and Tavis Smiley), Radio One, the British Broadcasting Corporation, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, Pacifica Radio, and XM Satellite Radio (POTUS). He was a featured analyst on NPR's November 2010 election coverage.

Fauntroy is a graduate of Hampton University, where he earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in political science. He earned a Master's Degree in Public Affairs and a Doctor of Philosophy Degree in Political Science from Howard University.

Celebrating Black History Month 2011

African Americans in the Civil War

Welcome.....	Staff Sgt. Jennifer Oliver
National Anthem	Ms. Faith Dillon
Invocation	Chaplain (Maj.) Randall Bowen
Lift Every Voice	Ms. Rozlyn Steele
Introduction of Keynote Speaker	Staff Sgt. Jennifer Oliver
Keynote Speaker	Dr. Michael K. Fauntroy
They Call Me	Speakers
Poem	Staff Sgt. Tia Zaccheus
Praise Dance	His Holiness
Fashion Show.....	Models
His Eye is on The Sparrow.....	Ms. Rozlyn Steele
Gift Presentation & Closing Remarks.....	Col. Susan Annicelli

At the conclusion of closing remarks, please stand and join hands, and join us in singing
We Shall Overcome